SASEC Energy Projects in Nepal Increase Clean Energy Use

9 June 2014: Kathmandu, Nepal

Nepal's Alternative Energy Promotion Centre has installed the country's first wind-solar hybrid system in Dhaubadi village of Nawalparasi district, under regional technical assistance financing from ADB. The system is now providing services to 46 rural households. This successful pilot demonstrates the feasibility of clean energy options—similar initiatives can be supported under the proposed SASEC power system expansion project.

Bhutan and India to Pilot Secure Cross-Border Transport Model

23 June 2014: India and Bhutan

The Royal Kingdom of Bhutan and India are moving to more sophisticated technologies in an effort to increase trade efficiencies between the two countries. In May 2014, government officials from Bhutan and India agreed to embark on a feasibility study that will pilot the Secure Cross-Border Transport Model (SCBTM) from the United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (UNESCAP) along key trade corridors, aimed at speeding up and reducing the cost of trade through designated land routes and border-crossing points.
